

OVER 30 DEATHS ATTRIBUTED TO WEEK'S STORM

PARROT FEVER CAUSE OF TWO DEATHS IN U. S.

Eleven Others Are Sick: Health Service Is Watching Cases

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—With two dead from parrot fever and eleven cases of that mysterious malady reported from distant sections of the country, government health authorities are taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease.

The deaths occurred in Toledo, Ohio, where Mrs. Percy Q. Williams succumbed to the ailment, and in Baltimore, Maryland, where the victim was Mrs. Louise Schaeffer. Four additional cases were reported from Ohio and seven from Maryland, with unconfirmed reports of three more cases in the latter state and one in California.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming has been advised that three cases in Annapolis resulted from contact with a recently imported parrot that had been purchased from a New York pet store and has informed Dr. Shirley Wynn, the City Health Commissioner. Fumigation of the store is expected to ensue.

Epidemic Not Feared.

The three stricken in Annapolis are Lee Kalmey, his wife and mother. A number of friends were exposed to the parrot from which the Kalmey's contracted the illness and the unconfirmed report of three more cases in Maryland, placed them within this group. In Baltimore, four employees of a pet shop were sick with the disease. At Warren, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McEntire and Miss Clody McEntire were ill and under quarantine, and the widow of the dead woman at Toledo was seriously ill from the same ailment.

Dr. Cumming has no fear that the disease will become epidemic, but urges caution. He advises that contact with newly imported parrots be avoided as sure means of preventing contagion.

The symptoms of the malady are almost identical with those of typhoid fever, but are complicated by pulmonary disorders similar to pneumonia. The disease is very rare and is believed to be contracted only from the birds, with little danger of contagion from individual to individual.

Liquor Runner Is Given Sentence

Frank Barker of Chicago, arrested on the afternoon of December 31 by Sheriff Miller, went into the County Court this morning and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor. When taken in custody west of the city on the Lincoln Highway, Barker was hauling a load of 105 gallons of alcohol to Des Moines, Iowa.

This morning Judge Leach ordered that Barker pay a fine of $500 and costs and serve a sentence of 120 days in the county jail. Chicago friends of Barker's have been endeavoring for several days to raise sufficient funds to pay his fine and avoid his serving a jail sentence.

Judge Leach entered an order as to the disposition of the alcohol seized in the load destined for the Iowa state capital as follows: 35 gallons to the Dixon state hospital, 25 gallons each to the Dixon public and Amboy public hospitals and ten gallons each to the Angear hospital at Sublette and the Poole hospital at Compton.

First Indictments In Grundy County

Morris, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Clarence Bertrand, Victor Festant and Sam Barnaby, all of Kankakee, Ill., were indicted by the Grundy county grand jury yesterday for the murder November 15, 1927, of William Smith in the Yellow Dog roadhouse.

The indictments according to court records, were the first to be handed up since Grundy county was fixed by state constitution in 1870.

Smith was shot when three men held up a card game in the roadhouse in the town of Dwight. Witnesses said he was in a drunken stupor and could not answer the bandits' command of hands up. They fled after the shooting without loot.

Festant was arrested two weeks ago in a crime investigation in Kankakee, and a witness of the murder picked him out as one of the hold-up men. The arrests of Bertrand and Barnaby followed.

Only Undertaker In Town Is Dead

Bluffs, Ill., Jan. 11.—(UP)—H. D. Kilpatrick, 70, dropped dead here yesterday while loading shingles at a local lumber yard of which he was part owner. He was Bluff's only undertaker. Death was due to apoplexy.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

FOR COMMITTEEMAN

Guy Merriman has announced that he is a candidate for precinct committeeman on the republican ticket at the April primaries. Mr. Merriman lives in the eleventh precinct, in the north east side of this city.

CAPTURE RED FOX

Glen Buzard, Edward and Joshua Hoyle of Palmyra township, captured a fine specimen of red fox on an island in Rock river near Nelson this morning. The fox was easily tracked through the deep snow. The young men expect to send the animal to Frank Hoyle, a taxidermist at Denver, Colo., to have it mounted.

A WILD STORY

A wild story in this morning's Chicago Tribune, telegraphed from Dixon stated that Sheriff Ward T. Miller, E. L. Fulmer, H. A. Brooks, A. H. Hanneken and Dr. T. F. Dornblaser were "lost" somewhere between Tuscola, Ill., where they appeared as witnesses in a law suit this week, and Dixon. The party arrived home last evening.

RED CROSS TO MEET

W. C. Durkes, treasurer of Lee County Chapter of the American Red Cross has called a meeting of all the members of the Chapter, residents of Amboy, Franklin Grove, Ashton and other towns included, at the Chamber of Commerce office in Dixon Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, for the purpose of reorganization and election of new officers.

MUCH ICE SOUTH

A dozen residents of Dixon, Amboy and Nachusa townships returned home from Tuscola, Ill., where they have been detained since Tuesday as witnesses for the defense in a case in which Frank Sweitzer, former resident of each of the three townships, is jointly indicted with James Hudson, a former police chief on a charge of arson. All of the men report that section of Illinois covered with ice and almost completely cut off from all communication, yesterday.

CHANGE FARM RULES

Effective the first of the year those sent to the Illinois state work farm at Vandalia, when released, will be able to make their way to their homes. C. J. Metzger, superintendent.

AVIATORS LOST IN ATTEMPT TO SET NEW RECORD

Two are Unreported Since They Took Off Early Friday Morn

New York, Jan. 11.—(UP)—An air fleet started in the bitter cold today to search for two men who yesterday made an attempt to find out how high their airplane would fly and have not been seen since.

Daniel Marra and William Kirkpatrick went aloft in a Fairfield cabin plane at 8:45 A. M. Friday with 5 1-2 hours' fuel. They wanted to make an altitude test and hoped to attain at least 10,000 feet.

The take-off was easy. The plane was equipped with a 425 horsepower motor and gained the air and finally it melted into the horizon.

During the early afternoon a thick fog rolled over the section around Farmingdale, L. I., from where the take-off was made and when the fliers had not landed by 3 P. M., field attendants assumed the plane had descended without anyone knowing about it.

Today the air search, which during the day may gain in scope, was started.

Marra is a former Army pilot who left the Army service a few months ago to become a commercial flyer. Kirkpatrick is an observer for an aviation corporation.

No Explanation

Anxious officials at the Fairchild field could offer little in the way of a satisfactory explanation of the fliers' absence.

"There is little chance that they might have frozen in the plane and lost control of it that way," said one, "for it was a warm cabin plane."

"There was almost no visibility," he continued, "and they may have crashed in some sparsely settled wooded district in New Jersey. Or they may have unconsciously drifted out to sea and fallen into the ocean. The prolonged silence causes us to suspect that they have been injured and cannot communicate with the outside world, and it is particularly for a cracked up plane that the searchers are looking."

The six Army planes took off today at order of Major William Ord Ryan of Mitchell Field while Police Commissioner Whalen ordered the police plane to aid in the search. Coast Guard vessels have been asked to be on the lookout.

Be Sure It's Real Money When Robbed

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—To the lay mind, the workings of the law sometimes are somewhat odd.

There is Otha Lloyd. A jury found him guilty yesterday of picking $18 from Allen Dean's pocket. But Lloyd's attorney demanded a new trial.

"How could this man be guilty of stealing $18," the attorney demanded, "when there was no testimony to show what kind of money was stolen?"

Judge McGorty granted the request for a new trial because the State's Attorney had neglected to prove the stolen sum was real money. The law requires that the prosecution must ask the direct question: "Was the money United States legal tender?"

The moral, slight though it may be, is that when having your pocket picked, be sure it's real money.

Public Fickleness Causes Alimony Need

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Were it not for the public's fickleness, Mrs. Yvonne Zink would not bother her husband, Herbert, for $385 unpaid temporary alimony.

She told Judge Lynch she plays the saxophone, and that the time was when chautauqua audiences enjoyed it very much indeed. Now, however, the public has gone over to the oboe, which is unfortunate for sax players.

With no public yearning for saxophone wails, there has been little demand for Mrs. Zink's talent and therefore, she explained, she needs alimony.

Judge Lynch told Mr. Zink to pay. There were those in the courtroom who, while regretting Mrs. Zink's dilemma, nonetheless were inclined to regard the passing of the sax as something to be not overly sad about.

Erie Man Killed On Rail Crossing

Erie, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Ralph E. Medhurst, 35, was killed late yesterday when he walked into the path of a freight train at a crossing here.

TERRORISTS IN MISSOURI HOLD FOLKS IN FEAR

Forces of Counties are United To Fight Bold Gangsters

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—(UP)—Prosecuting attorneys of three central Missouri counties today laid plans to combat a group of terrorists, credited with five murders and wholesale property depredations.

Under leadership of J. W. Buffington, prosecutors of Boone and Howard counties have been called to map a campaign against the group next Tuesday.

At Sturgeon, Mo., center of activity of the "rural racketeers", J. L. Partee, produce company manager was arranging a meeting of farm leaders to co-operate with the county officials.

"The entire countryside is demoralized with fear," Partee declared. "Even the most influential of the farm folk fear to talk."

In the event the counties fail to organize a drive against the terrorists, the state will be asked to provide militia to stamp out lawlessness.

ELECTRIC COP TO HANDLE ALL TRAFFIC READY

New Invention Is Likely To Displace Cops At Intersections

BY HARRY FERGUSON

United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, Jan. 11.—(UP)—The most recent robot to be demonstrated here is an automatic control, which can do everything a human patrolman does except swear at motorists.

This device presages that the day is not far off when the streets of New York will be Utopian highways where green lights are always shining and no ogre in a blue uniform ever halts you to inquire politely: "Where do you think you're going—to a fire?"

The remarkable feature of Patrolman Robot, is that it not only has brains but uses them. The robot is called the electric-matic traffic dispatching system, but it is far simpler than its name.

There are three parts to it: the ordinary system of green and red lights, sensitive "fingers" hidden under the pavements at street intersections and an electric brain that works far better than you would suspect.

Patrolman Robot's "fingers" feel the flow of traffic along the streets and convey the sensation to his brain. Thus he is able to speed up traffic on busy streets by allowing the direction in which the flow is heaviest to have the right of way.

But the lone motorist who waits at a cross street seeking a hole in the unending stream of vehicles receives fair treatment from the robot, for the "fingers" are recording that he is waiting and eventually the automatic policeman turns on the green light for him.

The manufacturers hastened to point out to city officials that Robot never demands an eight-hour day with time and a half for overtime; that the matter of police pensions could be forgotten and that the Robot treated members of the great tax-paying public with uniform courtesy.

There are crises in traffic, however, that would puzzle the robot but which would be crystal clear to a human patrolman. For instance, there was the motorist who was driving up Seventh Avenue New Year's Eve after making several calls. For him the green lights and the red blended into a beautiful rainbow hue, and he was just sufficiently alert to halt his car where repairs were being made in the street. A patrolman noticed him there, and returning two hours later found the man's car still standing there.

Shaking the drowsy motorist, the policeman inquired: "Why don't you drive on?"

"I," said the law-abiding citizen, pointing to a red lantern on a pile of brick in the street, "am waiting for that light to change."

Attempts Suicide On Passenger Train

Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 11.—(AP)—O. Trumbell of Waukegan, Ill., attempted suicide on a passenger train last night en route from Portland to San Francisco and was sent in serious condition to a hospital at Anderson, 24 miles from here. He cut his throat with a pocketknife. A brother, William Trumbell, was traveling with him.

ABOUT READY TO SEEK INDICTMENT IN TAYLOR CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., District Attorney Promises Action Soon

BY FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW

United Press Staff Correspondent
Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—(UP)—District Attorney Burrell Fitts told the United Press today that he feels "I have enough evidence before me now to obtain an indictment in the William Desmond Taylor murder case."

"I do not want this indictment until we are able to reconstruct every angle of what transpired on Alvarado Street on the night of February 1, 1922, and are certain of a conviction."

"We can reconstruct the entire crime now to our own satisfaction, but I want concrete evidence to support the one unit we are forced to bridge with supposition and not with facts."

"I hope and believe that we are near to completing our evidence. A premature indictment would block certain specific hopes we have of a solution."

Interview Witnesses

Ed King, special investigator for the District Attorney's office, was in northern California today to question Otis Heffner and Leary Peavey, the two "lost" witnesses in the famous case who were located and interviewed earlier this week by the United Press.

Heffner is to be returned to Los Angeles to face Fitts, and Peavey will be requested to appear here also if his story to King warrants.

The hunt was on in earnest today for Edward Sands, the one remaining witness who has not been produced. Sands was Taylor's valet. He was asserted in Heffner's statement to have been involved with Taylor and Heffner in a narcotic ring in 1922, and to have discovered Taylor's body at 2 A. M., six hours before Peavey found it and called the police.

Sands was seen in Los Angeles the day after the murder, and subsequently went District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine from Tallahassee, Pittsburgh and Portland, Ore.

Set Time of Murder.

The time of the murder has been set at approximately 7:25 P. M. District Attorney Fitts said today. Taylor was shot through the side, the bullet taking an upward course, just missing the heart and lodging near the neck.

The probabilities were, investigators said, that he left his two-story home momentarily, leaving the door open. As he returned, the murderer was standing behind the door.

"We have established the fact to our own satisfaction that the gun was held not farther than two inches from the body when the trigger was pulled," Investigator King said.

Fitts expressed belief, concurred in by other investigators, that Sands was bribed to flee in order that suspicion might attach itself to him and aid in protecting the guilty person.

Air Mail Pilot Is Killed In Landing

Sidney, Neb., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Fog and snow won a grim contest with Charles "Chuck" Kenwood, 28, air mail pilot, who was burned to death last night when he attempted an emergency landing near here.

His plane crashed on the farm of Ben Couch after he had evidently used up all of his flares without finding a suitable landing place. The gasoline tank exploded enveloping the machine in flames. Kenwood was dragged from the cockpit by Couch and a neighbor but died within a few minutes.

The plane and most of the mail were destroyed. A number of checks was found scattered from the pouches.

Film Star's Home Damaged By Fire

Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The wife and two children of Buster Keaton, film player, were rescued from a fire which today destroyed the dining room and children's sleeping quarters in the actor's Beverly Hills home. Keaton was absent from home.

The blaze was discovered by a nurse who aroused Mrs. Keaton and children who went to the home of Tom Mix, whose estate adjoins the Keaton residence, where they remained for the night.

Firemen estimated the damage at $10,000.

Woman Is Charged With Seven Deaths

Prague, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Charged with the murder of two husbands and five lovers, Agnes Bittner, 33, has been arrested at Dobruška, a village near Koenigsgrätz, Czechoslovakia, it is reported here.

ASHTON GRAIN DEALER FOUND DEAD THIS A. M.

O. C. Baker Stricken At His Office In The Night

(Telegraph Special Service.)

Ashton, Jan. 11.—Osman C. Baker, aged 65 years, was found dead in the office at his feed grinding elevator in the east end of the city this morning at 7 o'clock. Charles Olson, miller, discovered the body lying on the floor just inside the office door when he went to the elevator. Mr. Baker apparently suffered a heart attack last night and died suddenly.

Mr. Baker came to Ashton about 18 years ago from Madison, Wis., where he was educated in the University of Wisconsin. He engaged in the elevator business and had made his home with John A. Wagner. He had no relatives in this locality. He appeared in his usual health yesterday and was at the office last evening waiting on a customer when Mr. Olson left for home. Coroner Banker conducted an inquest over the remains today. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church here Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the body will be taken overland to Madison, Wis., Monday for burial.

REPORT OF LAW COMMISSION TO BE MADE MONDAY

LaFollette Decries Unfavorable Comments On Commission

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—How far prohibition enters into the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission's general conclusion that the nation is inadequately equipped for its war against the criminal is to be made known on Monday with the publication of its long awaited report on the anti-liquor laws.

This will be transmitted to Congress by President Hoover, through the usual channels. The Chief Executive has abandoned his plan for a joint congressional committee on prohibition to receive the report and study of the question on legislation for improving the enforcement of the "dry" statutes.

The first concrete announcement of the results of the commission's survey was made in a statement published today, asserting that "prohibition, automobile theft, white slave traffic, immigration, and other criminal laws of the Federal government have overtaxed the capacity and effectiveness of the national machinery for enforcement."

Considers Prohibition

On addition, it declared that careful consideration is being devoted to the prohibition question, with special attention to the manufacture and sale of industrial alcohol, coordination of Federal enforcement agencies and measures intended to relieve congestion in the Federal courts.

"A considerable portion of the activities of the committee has been given," the statement said, "to the development of proposals for action on most urgent questions" arising from the prohibition laws.

Simultaneous with the publication of the commission's statement came an expression from Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, a member of the Independent—Republican faction, that the crime study group be allowed to conduct its survey unhampered by outside influence of discussion.

"The violent outcry over the enforcement of prohibition and the torrent of criticism and abuse of the President's commission on law enforcement," he said, "are not conducive to the careful, patient, scientific research which the country has a right to expect and demand of that tribunal. That a deliberate effort is being made to hamstring the commission and discredit its work is the only fair conclusion to be drawn from the untimely, bitter attacks now being made upon it in advance of its report."

Million Dollar Loss In Cleveland Blaze

Cleveland, O., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Flames still smoldered early today leveled an elevator valued with its contents of grain at more than $1,000,000.

Twenty-nine companies, utilizing every available fire hose in Cleveland, and crews of two fire trucks battled ice and fire for hours last night.

The building itself was valued at $450,000 and the grain which it stored at $600,000, by Charles G. Watkins, president of the Cleveland Grain Co. He doubted whether anything could be salvaged. The structure was taken over only yesterday by the county as part of the right-of-way for a proposed new viaduct across the flats. The loss was covered by insurance, which the county also acquired.

Wright Urged To Seek Return To State Senate

SEN. H. G. WRIGHT

Senator Harry G. Wright of DeKalb, who has represented this district with credit and distinction for a number of years, announced today that he has withdrawn his candidacy for the State Treasurership. Senator Wright suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident, recently and later underwent a major operation and, although he is making an entirely satisfactory recovery, his physicians advise him that a strenuous statewide campaign would be too great a physical strain just at this time.

Senator Wright is being urged by many friends over the 35th senatorial district to become a candidate for re-election to the State Senate, but he has made no public announcement on that as yet.

Senator Wright has become a power in the State Senate and has held a number of the most important chairmanships in that body.

BRITISH OFFER REDUCTION IN CRUISER NEEDS

However, London Press Is Not In Support Of The Proposal

London, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Announcement of A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, that Great Britain is willing to reduce its cruiser complement from 70 to 50 at the forthcoming London conference has not found so strong a welcome from the British press as he may have hoped.

In editorials in two newspapers today there was a distinct note of warning and fear lest the Kellogg pact as a guarantee of peace was being over-rated, and Great Britain's security be compromised.

The Times, independent, moderately conservative, but supporting any government as far as possible, called for a more detailed explanation as to how the reduction was justified.

"Even assuming the possibility of war is at present negligible," the paper contended, "it is beginning at the wrong end to cut down our cruisers which are needed for peace as well as war instead of dealing first with huge battleships which exist for war and war only."

The Times noted with satisfaction that the Admiralty's consent to reduction of cruisers was "hedged about with very proper restrictions."

The Telegraph, conservative daily, declared that most people will regard the government's binding itself on the assumption of assured peace as a "reckless gamble with the nation's security," and urged that notwithstanding the importance of the pact it is "merely ludicrous to treat it as an absolute guarantee of peace."

AMERICANS PLEASED

S. S. George Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—American delegates to the forthcoming naval conference at London are pleased over references by A. V. Alexander, British First Lord of the Admiralty, to the Kellogg-anti-war pact as a basis for drastic British naval reduction.

The Kellogg pact is regarded as an American brain-child. It has been the major premise of all President Hoover's activity toward naval limitation and disarmament, and First Lord Alexander's acknowledgement of its potentialities for peace was eminent y satisfying.

Neither Colonel Stimson, Secretary of State, nor other delegates would

New Line Of Dodge Cars Is Displayed

The Clarence Heckman Dodge agency was today showing the complete new line of Dodge 1930 models, the feature of which is the new Eight-in-line, this year's leader in the Dodge family. Many interested spectators were viewing the new jobs on the display floor at the Heckman agency today.
"It is the greatest line in my seven years as Dodge agent in Dixon," Mr. Heckman said.
The new eight is equipped with a mono-piece body, all of the parts of steel being welded into one piece with no joints. This is the outstanding feature of the new series which is being turned out in the sedan, coupe, roadster and phaeton or touring models. An adjustable driving seat, four wheel hydraulic brakes and down draft carburetor are features of the complete new line.
Some changes have been made in the six cylinder models increasing both riding and driving comfort at a greater economic value.

CONFESSION ADMITTED

Chicago, Jan. 11—(UP)—Genevieve O'Brien's confession that she murdered her husband was read into the trial record today despite the heated protests of lawyers.
Hailed as a victory by the state in its attempt to send Dorris, the dapper insurance salesman to the electric chair, the confession was put into evidence through Tom Harvey, court reporter who set down the damaging evidence as blond Mrs. O'Brien sobbed it out the day after her husband William, was killed while shaving.
Morris—Grundy county's grand jury handed down what was said to be the first murder indictment on its records which date back to the establishment of the county in 1870. Clarence Bertrand, Victor Festari and Sam Barney, all of Kankakee, Ill., were charged with the murder of William Smith in a roadhouse Nov. 15, 1927.

Nab Aerial Rum Runner on Border

Here are first pictures from the "war zone" as Mexican and United States officials combined to halt airplane rum running across the border. Abel J. Boudreaux, El Paso, Tex., aviator, shown at the right, was captured when his plane, shown above, was forced down with a cargo of liquor 18 miles south of the Rio Grande. He was fined 50 pesos by Mexican customs officials at Juarez on charges of attempting to smuggle 25 cases of liquor into the United States. The United States custom collector at El Paso is asking the government for planes with which to battle aerial rum runners.

Attacks Legality Of Hubert Awards

New York, Jan. 11—(AP)—A suit attacking the legality of provision in the will of Conrad Hubert under which Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald allocated $6,000,000 in public benefactions was on file today.

Joseph Horwich, a brother of Mr. Hubert, who was bequeathed $1,000,000, is the complainant. Under the terms of the will he risks his legacy, as the document provides that any heirs-at-law or next of kin who contest the document, shall have their legacies revoked and the amount shall be added to the portion left for distribution to charity.

Last Monday, the committee headed by Mr. Coolidge, announced the names of 34 institutions, colleges and organizations which they had selected to share in the $6,000,000 residuary estate, after on fourth of the total property had been divided among Mr. Hubert's two brothers and sister.

The Losers Enter- tain the Winners; Baldwin Aux. Contest

The Baldwin Auxiliary U. S. W. V. has been having a contest for attendance gain, the climax of which was reached last night, the losers entertaining the winners and their families with a dinner in the G. A. R. hall. A real old-fashioned party was the theme. The dresses worn by the losers, some wedding dresses, some grandmothers' dresses, added to the atmosphere, as did the lapped checked table clothes, etc. After the delicious dinner the curtains were drawn and a very clever sketch "What Auntie Saw in Town" was given by four of the losers. Auntie was played by Mrs. D. E. Helmick, Josie by Mrs. William Frisby, Loli by Mrs. Lester Street, and Marie by Mrs. Ora Holderman. This sketch re- ceived much applause. The rest of the evening was spent in listening to the waltzes of other days, and cords

"Do's" And "Don'ts" For Illinois Schools

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Twenty-two "do's and don'ts" have been prepared for Illinois school children by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Irene M. Symonds, of Hinsdale, state chairman of Child Hygiene, made the list public here today, in sending copies out to child hygiene chairman of the various local clubs.

Mrs. Symonds' letter was as fol- lows:

"Try to make this matter of Health a definite, individual effort. Secure as large a group of moth- ers as will pledge themselves to carry out a simple plan and to report through you as chairman at the regular monthly meeting.

"Asks the mothers to decide on a definite schedule of rational daily habits for themselves and their chil- dren and try to live in accordance with it.

"1. Allow ample time for leisurely eating of meals and a rest period following.

"2. Eat only at meal time.

"3. Study and learn values of differ- ent foods.

"4. Eat some fruit and vegetables every day.

"5. Drink proper amount of milk and water daily.

"6. Create an interest in right foods that will counter-balance the fancies of dislike.

"7. Do not eat too much candy.

"8. Form good habits.

"9. Bathe regularly.

"10. Use toilet regularly.

"11. Wash hands after going to toilet.

"12. Wash hands after playing with pets (cats or dogs), and before eating.

"13. Play part of every day out- doors.

"14. Avoid getting wet—wear rub- bers, remove damp clothing.

"15. Sleep in ventilated room—child of six needs 12 hours daily, child of 15 needs 9 1-2 hours daily.

"16. Keep away from people who have colds or coughs.

"17. Do not cough or sneeze in faces of others.

"18. Keep fingers and objects out of mouths.

"19. Report signs of sickness in yourselves or others.

"20. Respect quarantine laws.

"21. Encourage forming of Health Clubs in grade schools, having a ten- minute period each morning for in- spection of cleanliness of hair, hands, face and teeth, and the read- ing of some good short health mes- sage. This will do much to stimu- late pride in personal appearance and in setting good standards.

"22. Brush teeth daily.

"23. Interest yourselves in community health activities, and keep records on things accomplished.

"These are some of the individual habits that will build towards bet- ter health conditions, and will be followed by other suggestions leading up to our School Health appraisal."

The couple were married Wednes- day at Philadelphia.

Chapter AC, Illinois P. E. O., will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Campbell, 317 Crawford Ave. Each member is requested to take to the meeting her copy of the constitution for the organization.

Women Gamblers

Welcomed by Gould

Nice, Jan. 11—(UP)—The gam- bling barons of Monte Carlo and their new rival Frank Gould, have widely different ideas about running a bac- carat game. Monte Carlo has de- cided to forbid women to play for high stakes. Gould invites them to his $5,000,000 Casino with the sky the limit.

Nobody knows why, at Monaco, the order discriminating against the so- called "weaker" sex has been issued, unless perhaps it is because of two recent suicides.

At Gould's palace, women are wel- come. They have been the most suc- cessful—and the steadiest—players of the season. "Diamond Helen," the famous Dutch beauty, recently broke a record by sitting in at the bacar- at table for 19 consecutive hours.

Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Charles Wakefield are two other women who have plunged heavily and never be- trayed an emotion.

Marie Jose Set Fashions for Spring

By PRINCESS ALI FAZIL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, —(UP)—The lady of fashion will wear more clothing in the priv- acy of her boudoir, in 1930, than she wore on the street in 1929.

Nighties will be long, ample in cir- cumference, and generally more modest in design than the average ball gown of last year. As a matter of fact, it takes three times as much material to make a nightie today than it did a year ago. And that pleases the silk manufacturers.

For the change, the Princess of Piedmont—who until Wednesday was Marie Jose of Belgium—is largely re- sponsible. Her intimate friends who had the privilege of seeing all the gorgeous items of her trousseau, took careful note of the bridal night ap- parel. One dress had a train three meters long.

Today, the French leaders are dis- playing the latest modes "A La Marie-Jose." They are form-fitting to the waist, with a V neck, and then break into billowy folds.

Ladies may throw away their crepe de chine nightgowns. They aren't the mode.

They may use floral designs on their nighties, or even dress in such a smart creation as black crepe satin with silver and gold embroidered flowers. That, of course, ruins a bank account.

A Bridal Gift of

A Mere Million

Chicago, Jan. 11 — (UP)—Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and one of the wealthiest men in the United States, entered into a pro-nuptial agree- ment with his bride, formerly Mrs. Adelaide Goodkind, whereby he gave her $1,000,000 in lieu of all rights in his es- tate, it was revealed by relatives here today.

The Rosenwalds are aboard the Saturnia on a honeymoon cruise to Italy and Egypt.

The bride, the widow of Benjamin L. Goodkind, St. Paul merchant, has a fortune in her own name and the agreement was termed a legal form usual when such large estates are concerned.

The couple were married Wednes- day at Philadelphia.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

When children are home from school during the holidays, there is sure to be plenty of trouble.

There will be long days and dark days when discontent creeps in, play- things pall, and quarrels ensue. Dis- obedience often will upset the quiet peace of homes at a time when the family should be resting in the mem- ory of past happiness.

Mothers become shocked and grieved over what looks like ingratitude. But children soon forget, and it is a large question just how much grati- tude they are capable of when they are little.

It won't do a bit of good, I'm afraid to say, "Johnny, for shame! To think of you being a bad boy when I have done so many nice things for you. Now be a good boy and go and play with your new engine, and see what a nice skyscraper you can make with your new builder set."

"Don't want to," will very likely be Johnny's answer because you see, it is just one of "those days."

Why Mothers Get Gray

It does seem as though there is no end to the resources required of a mother. Just when she thought Johnny was fixed for weeks and weeks, here's a nice state of affairs come along. Ungrateful little scamp!

Well—if there was only one such Johnny we might say, "Righto." If there were a hundred Johnnies we might think, "If they had the proper kind of toys to play with they would be too busy to give trouble and so it must be their parents' fault."

But as there are literally tens of thousands of these children with in- verted nerves and impossible disposi- tions after the big holiday, doesn't it look as though some greater force were at work that takes the blame elsewhere? I think it does. The fact of the matter is that neither chil- dren nor parents are at fault. It just happens. It is all due to what we call reaction—letting down—and the results are usually nerve explosions. Disobedience and discontent result from apparently no reason at all.

To the mother with a set of fussy children I'd recommend that she keep them as busy as niggers when such an unhappy time threatens. It really doesn't matter whether it's work or play, but I'd find something for small muscles to work on. Active muscles are the best antidote for faded nerves.

Keep Them Out-of-Doors

A grand big snowfall is a lifesaver. Out they would go if they were my children and the weather were at all decent; they'd skate and sled-ride and make snow-men and build snow forts and shovel walks and come in, rosy and happy and tired.

If there is no snow, I'd invent er- rands, or something to keep them out in the air for part of the time at least.

If they must stay indoors, what's the matter with letting them polish the silver, or post your cuttings in a scrap book, or try new games such as hunting the beans with a little prize for the one who finds the most? Let them dress up and give little plays acting the stories in their new books.

They will come back to their toys and love them all the better later on. But toys don't always supply the activity that children should have.

New Features Listed for K. T. Ball Tuesday Eve

The various committees are very hard at work preparing for the an- nual grand ball which is to be given by the Dixon Commandery, Knights Templar, No. 21, on Tuesday eve- ning in Masonic Temple, the first story of which appeared on the front page of the Telegraph some ten days ago. The members of the drill team have been practicing some special work and the Drum and Bugle Corps expect to have their full membership of twenty-seven men take part in their concert. The exhibition drill by the White Shrine drill team will show some entirely new formations.

The orchestra will play "Onward Christian Soldiers" during the grand march which is always a most beau- tiful affair. A new idea will be in- troduced which is sure to surprise the entire attendance.

For those who do not care to dance, there will be a card party in the parlors after the grand march and prizes will be awarded. The decorations, which will be represen- tative of Knight Templarism and are exceptionally beautiful, have been made up and will be arranged with- in the next few days. The final re- hearsals will be held Sunday and all members of the drill teams, Drum and Bugle Corps and commanding officers should attend.

The committee has made arrange- ments for maid service and check room for the ladies and special po- lice protection for the visitor's cars. A great many out of town visitors have sent word that they will attend this ball.

The orchestra which is always the main feature of every ball, will have an especially effective setting ar- ranged by the decoration committee. They will play a number of selec- tions from the new musical comedies and talking pictures. Signs giving the titles and sources of these selections will add to the interest and enjoy- ment of them.

Most of the invitations have been mailed but every mail brings re- quests to the Commander, Sir Knight Elwin M. Bunnell for invita- tions to be sent to friends. The in- terest shown in this party has been so great that it has been decided that this one will inaugurate a series of beautiful parties to be held dur- ing the balance of the winter.

White Shrine Meeting, Supper Last Evening

The members of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, Corinthian Shrine No. 40, and their families, enjoyed a sup- per at 6:30 at the Masonic Temple last evening, followed by a meeting of the members and afterward by a game of bridge.

There was an unusually large at- tendance and an unusually happy evening was enjoyed by all. The tables were beautifully decorated in yellow and green in tapers and flowers. After the meeting in which some questions were discussed, bridge occupied the attention of all. Favors for high score and second score for the ladies were awarded to Mrs. Will Ware and Mrs. Dave Boos and States Attorney Mark Keller won the favor for high score for the men and Lee Read won the second favor. At a late hour all sought their homes after a most enjoyable evening.

Thursday Reading Circle Meeting

The Thursday Reading Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Mumma. The program opened with Current Events given by the members, followed by the paper of the afternoon on Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, read by Mrs. Robert An- derson.

After the program the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE

Shawnee, Oklahoma.

The other night the citizens of Dallas, Texas, held an unusual din- ner. It was an occasion of honor for one of their number, who had just passed his seventieth birthday. Letters and telegrams of congratu- lation and tribute were received from ex-President and Chief Justice Taft, a governor, several senators, a large body of the Texas congress- men in Washington, presidents of railroads heads of great industries all over America, educators, men high in church circles, and so on down to just plain folks.

Perhaps most of those who read this have never heard of George B. Dealey. But mighty few of us have grown up without hearing of The Dallas Morning News. Mr. Dealey's life has been spent in the up-build- ing of this great daily, and now at seventy he pauses to look back from his chair at the desk where he is still the active head of his paper and a power for good among his fellow- men.

Amid his honors, has he forgotten the days and years of just plain work—the years that often seemed dreary but that have brought him now to the top of the ladder? I think not. I think he counts them all worth while, and I rather be- lieve he is thankful for even the set- backs which gave him strength to drive forward again.

I ADD MY TRIBUTE TO THE MANY BEING ACCORDED TO MR. DEALEY. AND TO THE OTHER MR. DEALEYS WHOSE LIVES HAVE BEEN GIVEN TO THE UP- BUILDING OF THEIR COMMUNIT- IES, AND WHO HAVE EARNED THE HONORED TITLE OF "LEADING CITIZEN." ALL OVER THE FACE OF THIS EARTH.

FLYING THE AIRMAIL.

The city of St. Louis began a campaign the other day to erect a monument to Colonel Lindbergh; but when Lindbergh was consulted on the matter has said that instead of being honored for his flight across the Atlantic, he would much rather be remembered as "a boy who flew the airmail."

Lindbergh's lone flight across the ocean was one of the supremely spectacular feats in all history. It was the perfect incarnation of the wild dream of the small boy. This generation, at least, never saw anything remotely like it.

Yet he looks on his service as an airmail pilot as a thing much more worth commemoration in marble.

The airmail pilots don't get a great deal of public attention. Once in a great while one of them gets tangled in a fog and slaps head-on into a mountain, and in his death makes the front pages; but for the most part the airmail planes go back and forth on their routes without any trumpets to announce them.

But aviators generally seem to recognize the service as the aristocracy of flying. Lindbergh himself, who ought to know what constitutes real achievement in the air, seems to be prouder of his airmail record than of his flight across the ocean.

When you think it over, perhaps you'll agree with him. There is nothing of the "stunt" about the airmail. It is a sober, unspectacular business, and the men who pilot its planes are unemotional professionals pursuing their chosen calling without any fuss or excitement. To be an airmail pilot is to be accepted as an exceptionally able and courageous flyer—but it seldom carries any fame with it.

There are other compensations, however. There are few things more satisfying to the human spirit than the knowledge that one belongs to a group in which the utmost of devotion, ability and bravery are demanded. The airmail is young, but it has traditions. One of them is that the job is always more important than the man; and, say what you will about human selfishness, that sort of tradition is and always will be an appealing one.

Then, too, the airmail flyer is pre-eminently an individualist—an individualist in a world in which all of us, year by year, are being bound closer and closer by the claims of the mass. When a mail plane goes aloft the individual is pitted, single-handed, against the universe. Each flight is a personal victory.

Lindbergh's choice isn't so hard to understand. The flight to Paris was a magnificent venture—but a job in the airmail carries just a little more reason for honest pride.

THE DIE-HARDS GET BUSY.

A gloomy discord begins to creep into the optimistic paeon of rejoicing about the pending London naval armament conference.

Premier MacDonald will attend the conference ready to make real sacrifices in order to end naval competition. But the British Tories, it is said, are making ready to appeal to the British public's traditional feeling for its navy and thus defeat parliamentary ratification of any agreement that MacDonald may reach, providing it does not clearly leave the British navy in a stronger position than any other.

That is bad news; yet the same thing is going on in this country. The die-hards, who refuse to admit that the world has gone forward since Trafalgar, do not believe in naval agreements, and they will do their best to make the conference a failure.

It is up to the friends of peace—who, we believe, are in the majority in each country—to make their voices heard, and insist that something more than an empty gesture come out of the London meeting.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAX COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

At first the monkey squealed and squeaked. Then further on the limb he sneaked. "Course Clowny now was right nearby. 'I'll get you soon,' he cried. 'I know that you will shortly see that you can't get away from me. No matter what you try to do there's naught can save your hide.' "We let you ride our bike around and when you stopped we shortly found that you had taken it apart! One of your smart tricks. And now you're trying to get away. You'll find that mean pranks never pay. The way you run, I guess you know that you are in a fix."

The monk began to chatter wild and Clowny just looked on and smiled. "Don't try explaining," he explained. "I cannot understand Your monkey lingo's dumb to me. You're doomed, as far as I can see. In just a minute I will have your long tail in my hand."

Al of a sudden Clowny tried, by reaching 'way uot, far and wide, to grab the little monkey, but the monkey was too quick. He swung his little body 'round, leaped from the tree and reached the ground. It quite surprised poor Clowny, 'cause it was a clever trick.

"Hey! Catch him! Catch him!" Clowny cried. "Be quick or he will run and hide. Don't let that fellow get away. He'll only laugh at us." The Tynmites all chased the monk until it slipped and fell, kerplunk. And then they pounced upon him and created quite a fuss.

At last the monkey held real still and Scouty said, "Now comes our thrill. I'll be the one to spank you and you will not think it fun." The monkey squirmed around, but he was soon across brave Scouty's knee. And then he got a spanking for the things that he had done.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON
On Jan. 11, 1757, Alexander Hamilton, the famous American statesman, was born at Charles Town, in the island of Nevis, West Indies.

At the age of 12, the future statesman was placed in a counting house. But when he showed considerable literary ability he was sent to the English colonies on the continent to continue his education.

Hamilton distinguished himself in several engagements during the Revolutionary War and acted as Washington's confidential secretary, attending to much of the correspondence from headquarters.

Hamilton took an active part in the organization of the new government of the treasury of the United States and was named the first secretary in 1789.

Today also is the anniversary of the meeting of the Continental Congress in New York on Jan. 11, 1785. And on Jan. 11, 1805, Michigan territory separated from Indiana territory.

Daily Health Talk

YOUR VALUABLE HEART
By J. C. ANDERSON, M. D.
Austin, Texas.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

The heart is about the size of the closed hand of the individual to whom it belongs. It acts as a force pump pumping blood about seventy-two times a minute out into the big blood vessel, the aorta. This vessel soon divides into smaller vessels, and these in turn split up in still smaller ones, and finally we have tiny vessels called capillaries, that are so small that the minute blood cells have just room to get thru them in single file. The veins collect blood from the capillaries and return it to the heart. Each half of the heart has two chambers. One half takes care of the blood carried to the heart by the veins laden with waste, which makes the blood dark or bluish under the skin. This is then pumped to the lungs to be aerated and purified. The other half receives the purified bright red blood coming from the lungs and distributes it to all parts of the body.

Every muscle, every vital organ and especially the brain depend upon the circulation of the blood for nutrition and for that other important function, the collection and disposal of waste material.

The blood pressure is meant to insure an efficient circulation. Now there are many factors in influencing the circulation, such as sleep, muscular exercise, digestion, mental work, the condition of the heart, the emotional state and so forth. Certain muscles during exercise must have a little more blood; The proper capillaries in those organs must relax a little to let more blood thru, and the other capillaries in the body must tighten up a bit in compensation. It's all very intricate and we don't know much about how this business is managed; but we do know that the little muscles in the walls of the capillaries which enable them to squeeze on the contained blood are, in turn, tightened or relaxed thru the action of nerve that run to them. And we know that there is one part of the brain that forms a telephone central for this part of the body's automatic control.

Furthermore, our emotions have fully as much to do with variations in blood pressure as does our muscular activity. Fear and anger, especially, and anxiety and worry and impulsiveness—all these tend to send our blood pressure up. Smoking and a hearty meal both raise it. Rest, especially sleep, lowers it. So it goes all day long, the blood pressure rising and falling according to the varying needs of the body. It is a marvelous mechanism.

In addition, our bodies must have an even temperature, neither too hot nor too cold, and the circulation of the blood by the heart helps to maintain this. Therefore the importance of a heart that functions perfectly is apparent.

In the heart are four valves to keep the blood from flowing backward. It is these valves and the muscular walls of the heart that often become diseased or defective. The way to keep your heart in good shape is to have an occasional examination just to forestall any tendency for it to go bad.

Fathers and Sons Banquet Several interested men met at the F. J. Blocher store Monday night to make plans for a Fathers and Sons banquet. Ira Buck acted as chairman and F. J. Blocher, as secretary. It was decided to have the banquet on Thursday evening, Jan. 30. The following committees were appointed:

Program—Earl Buck, Prof. Hanson, Will Phillips. Arrangements—L. Emmert, Emery Wolf, John Cover, Chas. Sunday. Ticket and Advertising—LeRoy Miller, I. J. Trostle, Frank Senner, Prof. Fox, Henry Hicks, Ira Currens, George Canfield.

The Library Association will serve the banquet as in former years. While the Fathers and Sons banquet is fine and splendid of itself, it also adds greatly to the library fund. The Library Association gets 40 cents a plate, and after the men have paid the expenses what is left is given to the Library fund, a most worthy place. Let's all work for the banquet. Let's make it the largest one ever held in our town. Every father and every son should and of course will be there.

SHE'S REAL PILOT!

Aviatrix Wins Coveted Transport License Within Year
After First Solo Flight

No, this isn't a beauty contest winner ready for an airplane flight. She's Blanche Wilcox Noyes of Cleveland, who recently passed the difficult examination for a transport pilot's license less than one year after she made her first solo flight. Mrs. Noyes is the 12th woman in America and the first in Ohio to qualify for this highest rating in aviation. In recent tests, she executed spins, power spirals, landings without power and righted a plane from dangerous stalls to win the transport rating. She finished fourth in the women's transcontinental air derby from Los Angeles to the National Air Races at Cleveland last summer.

Trans Atlantic Airplane Crash

The disastrous finish of a daring attempt to set a new distance record in a southward trans-Atlantic flight, the wreckage of the Breguet biplane which crashed near Santo Antonio, Brazil, after flying 3600 miles from Seville, Spain, is shown in these NEA Service pictures, the first to reach the United States. Capt. Leon Challes, noted French pilot, sustained slight injuries and is pictured upper right, in a hospital at Natal, Brazil. His companion, Maj. Tadeo Larre-Borges of Uruguay, above, left, was unhurt. Not how the crash smashed the lower wings and wheels of their plane and literally split the craft in two.

SHIRES STOPPED AL SPOHRER IN FOURTH ROUND

Boston Catcher Was Not A Match For Talkative Texan

(BY HENRY MINOTT)

United Press Staff Correspondent
Boston, Jan. 11—(UP)—Spohrer out, Shires, unassisted. Thus might be recorded the result of the American-National League boxing contest here last night between Arthur "The Great" Shires, verbose first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, and Al Spohrer, baldheaded catcher of the Boston Braves.

The garrulous "Great One" took just 10 minutes and 20 seconds of actual boxing to establish his superiority over his squatly and unscientific opponent.

A terrific right which caught Spohrer flush on the chin in the second round and sent him to the canvas for the count of eight, paved the way for the Chicagoan's technical knockout victory in the fourth round.

Apparently inspired by his easy triumph, Shires retracted his previous decision to retire from the ring and announced he would participate in three more bouts.

Spohrer Good Wrestler
Though he did not star as a fighter, Spohrer proved sufficiently adept at wrestling tactics to carry the scheduled six-round bout into the fourth round.

Spohrer led with his left as the first round opened, scoring light jabs to Shires' face. Arthur got peevish when, in a clinch, Al pummelled his kidneys, and let loose a barrage of rights and lefts, some of which connected with Spohrer's jaw.

The second round was a minute old when Shires swung a haymaker right that caught the catcher flush on the jaw. Spohrer sat down with a thump and the referee counted eight. Then the bald-headed ballplayer rose on wobbly legs and, assisted by the ropes, managed to finish the round.

Only a warm spot in Shires' heart seemed to prevent Spohrer from being knocked out in the third round.

Nevertheless, Al started what proved to be the final round aggressively. He came out of his corner and landed a series of left jabs to Shires' body. Then Arthur uncoiled a two-listed attack and hammered Spohrer's jaw until the Braves' catcher was in a bad way.

Al was reeling against the ropes when his second, Bobby Goldman, leaped into the ring and conceded Spohrer's defeat.

"I didn't want to fight Al Spohrer, anyway," said Shires, addressing the booing crowd after the referee had lifted his arm as a token of victory. "I wanted to fight Hack Wilson."

MAY MEET TRAFTON

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Charles Arthur Shires, the Great Man, may or may not have retired from the fist fight business, after polishing off Al Spohrer in Boston last night, but Promoter Jim Mullen today expressed the hope that he might induce Spohrer's jaw until the Braves' catcher was in a bad way.

Mullen wants Shires to meet George Trafton, his conqueror, in a return engagement. The big professional football player is willing and Shires had expressed a desire to reverse the decision victory scored by Trafton.

Meanwhile, Mullen also is attempting to match Battling Criss, the heavyweight from Rockwood, Mich., with Trafton. Criss got his name in the papers by claiming somebody asked him to lay down to Shires in a fight which was to have taken place in Detroit New Year's day.

CRIB WELL CORNED

Xenia, O.—A corn crib is for storing corn and corn cobs. A crib found near here was well supplied with corn—both grain and liquid. Moving about 500 bushels of corn from the crib, dry agents found and seized 20 gallons of the liquified grain.

The first metal discovered by primitive man was copper.

BOY, INJURED ON GRIDIRON IS DOOMED TO DIE

El Paso, Ill., Youth Is In Hospital With Broken Neck

(Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—In El Paso,

Illinois, George Hunt, 18 years old, is a hero over whom hangs the Damoclean sword of death.

The big game was too much for him. That was October 18, El Paso football team against Pontiac. Hunt had been hurt early in the season. He couldn't move his neck, and he sat on the bench watching his team battling Pontiac. The score stood 6 to 6. He pleaded for a chance to get into the game, but it was not until the third period that the coach let him go.

Hunt went to his position at quarterback. For four successive plays he called his own signal, and pounded from the Pontiac 40 to the Pontiac 10 yard line. On the fifth play he sent his interference around one end, and ran, unprotected, around the other—a daring maneuver for a touchdown.

A tackler got him, and George Hunt didn't get up. He was paralyzed. A vertebrae was dislocated.

He was brought here, and surgeons said he couldn't live much longer. There wasn't much money. Hunt is the kind who have to work hard for their nickels and dimes.

But since his injury, there have been benefit games and funds raised, and more than $1,000 was made available to give him the best surgical attention.

Still, nothing availed. His cousin, Harry Massey, came here to take the boy home. Now Massey is in jail, charged with manslaughter in a truck on which he was riding from Pontiac ran down a man and Massey, though only a passenger, was held with the truck driver.

Today, Massey believed he would be able to convince a judge that he was not criminally involved in the death the truck caused. If he could get free, he said, there still would be time to take George home.

One man in jail, charged with manslaughter; a youth dying; and despite it all, the big game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Chicago, Jan. 11 (AP)—The championship hopes of one favorite in the Western Conference basketball title struggle will suffer tonight when Michigan and Purdue engage at Lafayette, Ind.

The experts have rated both teams as certain first division material, and Michigan, by an impressive 32 to 17 triumph over Minnesota in its opener last Saturday night, indicated it is as powerful as last season when it shared the championship with Wisconsin. Purdue will be making its first start of the championship campaign. Its preliminary season was not for the first time and figures to be right for the Wolverine invasion.

Wisconsin, usually in the thick of conference title basketball races, already has a comeback job to do, and will attempt it against Ohio State at Columbus, O., tonight. The Badgers suffered a surprise defeat by Northwestern in their first conference game last Saturday night and Coach Walter Meanwell has worked his squad strenuously this week to break into the victory column. Ohio State also dropped its first game, bowing to Illinois a week ago.

Northwestern will seek to make Minnesota its second straight victim tonight, at Minneapolis.

Chicago and Indiana will play their inaugural at Chicago. The Maroons were more successful in their early season games, but did not encounter the class of competition met by Indiana.

DIXON TEAMS IN DOUBLE DEFEAT LAST EVENING

The De Kalb High School Teams Too Strong For Dixonites

(Dixon Heavies, 4; DeKalb, 7; Dixon Lights, 6; DeKalb, 7.)

(By Robert Lesage)

The Dixon High School basketball squads journeyed to DeKalb last evening only to lose both games of a double header played at the DeKalb township high school gym. This was the first conference game to be played by either school and DeKalb nosed out the winner by very close margins in each case. In the heavyweight contest both teams showed fine form and at the half only one point had been scored and that on a free throw made by a DeKalb player. Dixon started in fast at the start of the second period and Vorhis, captain of the purple and white squad soon rang up two baskets, the only points to be made by the Dixon team during the entire contest. This gave the Dixon quintet the lead and they retained it till within five minutes of the finish of the game. At this time Hasselburg, who had been playing a bang up game at guard was forced to leave the floor on four personals. DeKalb soon took advantage of this and Tadd and Maxwell found the hoop for a basket apiece. A much chagrined Dixon was finally forced to leave the floor the losers of the contest by a 4 to 7 score. The teams lined up as follows:

Dixon: Cortright and Lebre, forwards; Vorhis (Capt.), Daniels, centers; Teeter and Hasselburg, guards; DeKalb: Tadd, Leslie, Maxwell (Capt.) and Blair, forwards; Anderson and Bordman, center; Skoglund and Makela, guards.

Referee—Schulte of Belvidere. Umpire—Smith of Belvidere.

Lights Lose
The Dixon lightweight team played a bitter, hard fought contest against the DeKalb aggregation and at the end of the first period the score was 2 to 2. Flannigan scoring two free throws for Dixon and Norri sinking a lone basket for the DeKalb team. In the second half the Dixon squad obtained a lead that looked for a while good enough to win the game but as in the case of the heavyweight contest the DeKalb team pulled a rush attack led by Kylen and Olsen, which resulted in their defeat by a score of 7 to 6. The Dixon squads, in both cases, maneuvered their plays in fine order but had trouble in locating the hoop. The teams lined up as follows:

Dixon: Hilliker, Mitchell and Carlson, forwards; Kennedy, center; Wolfe, Brown and Flannigan, guards.

DeKalb: Kylen and Norri, forwards; Olsen, center; Stefoni and Kovach, guards.

Next week end the Dixon squads play Belvidere in their second conference game at the new Dixon high school gymnasium. The fans of Dixon can expect a real treat as Belvidere always has fast teams and the Dixon squads never quit fighting till the gun signifies the game is over.

BROOKLYN—Willie Hoppe and Eric Lagenlacher divided honors in a pair of billiard matches here last night. Hoppe won the 18.1 balkline competition, 200 to 40, scoring all his points in one run, while Lagenlacher won the three-cushion match, 25 to 24.

NEW YORK—The Army-Illinois football game next fall will be played at Yankee Stadium on November 8, instead of at the Polo grounds, in order to accommodate a larger crowd. It has been announced.

NEW YORK—Babe Ruth was scheduled to depart for Florida today on a holiday.

"I want a three year contract at $85,000 a year," said Ruth. "I think I deserve it and I'm going to hold out for that amount. The next move is up to the Yankees. Right now I'm going to get in shape."

NEW YORK—Madison Square Garden Corporation has insured Victorio Campolo, lanky Argentine heavyweight for $300,000—$200,000 against death and $100,000 against injury to his hands.

NEW YORK—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, will make his American debut in a 10-round bout against Big Boy Peterson of New Orleans in Madison Square Garden January 24.

Jimmy Slattery and Lou Scozza will meet in a 15-round bout for the light-heavyweight championship at Buffalo, February 10. In sanctioning the bout the New York State Athletic Commission stipulated that the winner must meet Maxey Rosenbloom of New York within 60 days.

CHICAGO—The welterweight championship rested just as securely today on the head of Jackie Fields. Fields showed his skill last night in a non-title bout at the Chicago Stadium by winning a technical knockout out from Jimmy Owens, Oklahoma, in the second round of a scheduled ten round fight. King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, and Bruce Flowers, New York Negro, found a ten round draw while Billie Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, won a technical knockout in the ninth round from Danny Delmont, Chicago.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—The status of 11 Iowa athletes suspended from contests because they obtained money from a "trust fund" was referred to the intercollegiate conference after a meeting of the Iowa University eligibility committee and a committee of Big Nine faculty representatives that ended early today. The Big Nine representatives did not interview any athletes. The "trust fund" from which the 11 obtained money led to the ousting of Iowa from the Big Ten.

NEW YORK—Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., has proved his right to the world three-cushion billiard championship by defending his laurels against a field of seven contenders. Layton retained his title by defeating Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, former champion, in the final match last night, 50 to 32, in 43 innings. By the victory Layton won approximately $10,000.

Layton won six games and lost one in the tournament. His only defeat was administered by Augie Kleckhefer, Chicago southpaw, 50 to 38 in 38 innings.

ERRORGRAMS

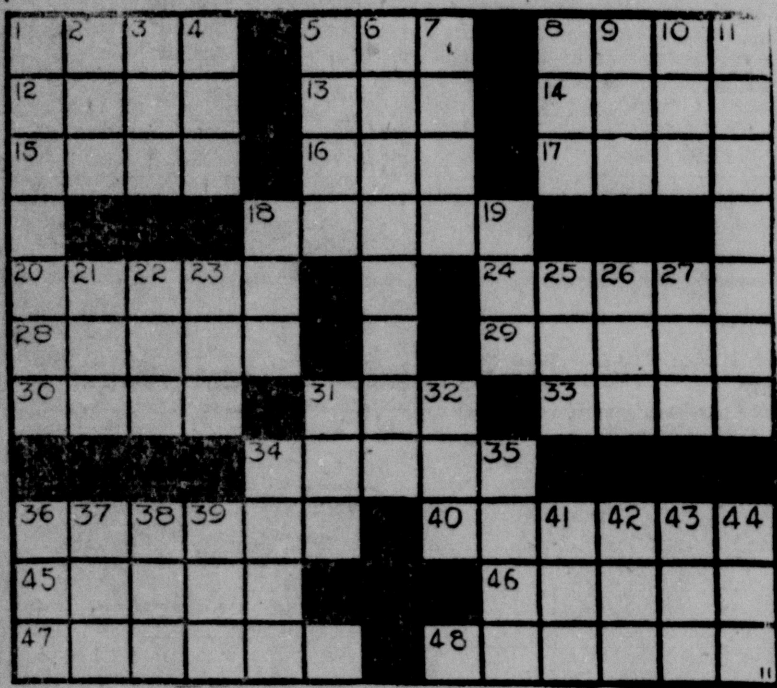

(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Monday we'll explain the mistakes and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After a whirlwind courtship JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing office, is married to ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the firm. Knight is a widower, father of two children. TONY, his 18-year-old daughter, is in Europe and JUNIOR, 16, is attending school.

Judith has been snubbed by other employees because she was not communicative about her private affairs. She has no intimate friends though on several occasions she keeps mysterious appointments with a young man known as DAN.

The first week of their honeymoon in Bermuda is a paradise of sunny days and moonlit nights. Then comes a cablegram, forwarded from New York, in which Tony Knight announces she is sailing for home. Knight says he and Judith must return to meet Tony's boat. They depart two days later. Since neither of Knight's children has been told about the marriage, Judith is skeptical of her welcome.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

SUNDAY on shipboard was a gray day, stormy and menacing. It reminded Judith Knight that not only New York but December lay ahead. Bermuda had been like May. Now they were coming to December. May and December. Oh, why should that hateful, hackneyed phrase come to mind?

She was shaken and pale—doubtless a reaction from her tempestuous outburst the night before.

Judith tried to conquer the mood. She put on her brightest frock, a green velvet with skirt and bolero of solid color and a plaid blouse combining crimson, yellow and black. Her hair looked a mass of silken high lights and she used carmine to accentuate her vivid lips. Then, summoning reassurance, she set out jauntily to find Arthur.

It was late morning. She found her husband, as she had expected, in the purser's office. They strolled toward the library.

"Arthur," said Judith with forced cheerfulness, "do you know what's almost here?"

"Certainly. New York harbor. Only you've got it wrong, dear. It isn't almost here—we're almost there."

Laughing, she shook her head. "You've forgotten. I knew you had!" she accused. "Arthur, it's nearly Christmas."

"Christmas? Good Lord, that's what the semi-tropics will do for a person. Make you forget everything in the world that's seasonable. Christmas—Judith, what day is it?"

"Sunday," she told him promptly. "Sunday, the 17th of December. Only eight days more, Mr. Knight, to do your Christmas shopping early!"

Arthur assumed an expression of mock terror.

"Don't make it sound worse than it is," he said. "Anyhow, I never have any Christmas shopping to do. Miss Tupper attends to all that."

Judith's arch enemy of office days! Hearing Miss Tupper's name was like a sudden dash of ice water. It brought to mind an instant vision of the woman's face. Judith could hear the private secretary saying again in her cold, clipped tones: "I cannot with a clear conscience give you a recommendation—"

THE girl fought down impulse. What a bundle of nerves she was becoming lately. She wouldn't—no she WOULDN'T surrender!

"Of course," Arthur was adding hastily, "I don't quite mean that. Miss Tupper doesn't do all my shopping for me. Just the worst part, the cards and duty offerings, and gifts for the employees. There are presents," he interrupted him.

L. S. V. G.—Ida McCartney. Financial Sec.—Elsie Johnson. Recording Sec.—Ruth James. Hreas.—Helen Swanson. Pianist—Gussie Roberts. Miss Mary Hammer acted as installing officer.

There were about 75 present. Following the meeting delicate refreshments were served.

The retiring officers presented the outgoing noble grand, Mrs. Lena Myers, a past noble grand jewel.

Mrs. Ralph Avey and children spent Thursday in Milledgeville, the guests in the Eakle Caulfield home.

Dr. C. W. McPherson was a professional caller in Milledgeville Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Griffin spent Friday in Chicago.

Russell Sherwood of Chicago is spending several days in Polo on matters of business.

J. F. Kennedy and Ralph Scofield of Freeport were business callers Friday.

C. L. Sharp and son of Rock Island, Clyde Swearingen of Aledo, who have been guests in the Wayne Prince home, went to Chicago Friday to spend several days. Mr. Swearingen is a brother of Mrs. Prince.

Pearl Summers transacted business in Rockford Wednesday.

MUST SING FOR WIFE Chicago—Because of his golden-voiced singing, Mrs. John Ropavac married her husband. When he wouldn't sing for her any more, she went to court to see what could be done. The judge, also a lover of good music, ordered John to sing for his wife, twice a day.

ACCURACY GYPSY: I'll tell you fortune, sir. WALTER: How much? GYPSY: One dollar, sir. WALTER: Quite correct. How did you guess it?—Answers.

"Arthur," she said, "I DO hope they'll like me! I'm sort—sort of worried."

self to chuckle, "that it's really a pleasure to buy. Don't you just wish you knew what I'm thinking of? Don't you?"

"No," she said. "I'm busy thinking about certain Christmas packages myself."

"Oh, we'll have a great Christmas—a wonderful Christmas," Knight continued as though the subject, launched so hurriedly, was beginning to suggest great possibilities. "Just think, Tony'll be home. I'm going to insist she shall stay home at least that long this time! And Junior's school will be closing in a day or two. We'll have a big tree in the living room and you and I'll find socks for 'the Hoodlums.' And we'll have—oh, just wait till you see what I'm thinking of! You see, I have to make up to you in some way for bringing you back home so soon."

Tony would be there—and Junior, too. Just in a few days now.

Knight was so delighted with his own speculations he failed to see the clouded expression cross his wife's face.

"Arthur," she said, turning to him earnestly, "oh, I DO hope they'll like me! I'm—sort of worried—"

He laughed down at her, patting her arm and told her that of course the children would be fond of her. She must put such nonsense out of her head.

"I'll try," Judith promised, but the smile with which she said it was a rueful smile.

The rest of that day she kept her worries to herself. When Arthur talked she was gay, apparently in the best of spirits. But if conversation languished the hunted look came back into the girl's eyes. For long intervals she sat silent.

Two fears were battling in Judith Knight's mind. The one fear was tangible—and she felt she might conquer it. The other fear was intangible and therefore immeasurably the more dangerous. Judith Knight was no coward. She knew she was facing her ordeal.

Later that night when she repented and wept with her head pillowed on Arthur's shoulder he assured himself that the attack of nerves was only a minor malady, soon to be forgotten.

SURE enough, Judith seemed her usual, sweet-tempered self next morning. By 7:30 her husband was out on the deck. He hurried in to report that the harbor was glorious in the early morning mist. Soon they would stop at Quarantine. He urged Judith to dress quickly and come for a stroll on deck.

She sent him off alone again, promising to be ready in half an hour. Feverishly she continued her painstaking toilet.

The frock she chose was a beige crepe. It was becoming and perfect taste for morning. Over this she wore the coat of broadtail—dressed but permissible, she thought, for a bride. The black hat was her favorite and so she wore that.

At breakfast Arthur was ravenous. He ordered fruit, cereal, then broiled ham and eggs, brought on a steaming platter. Judith broke a muffin open, buttered it and tried to sip her coffee. The coffee was strong and good. She enjoyed it.

"Judith," her husband said, glancing across the table with his most appealing smile, "we're going home! Are you glad, dear?"

"Yes, Arthur," she told him, "glad."

They had been late to reach the dining room. Now the place was almost deserted. Judith and Arthur arose at last and made their way to the deck.

There was the city! Everywhere in the North river was activity. Tugs and ferry boats moved about them, chirping and moaning. The breeze was cold and smarted against Judith's cheeks, but the day was clear.

"Arthur," the words came impulsively, "oh, I AM glad to be back!"

The city had proved kind once. Why not again? Judith Knight felt herself swept by the contagious good cheer of a return to port. The voyage was ended, a task successfully completed.

She heard the national anthem ring out on the morning air. Over the spires of skyline and through gray clouds a flood of bright sun light came pouring.

They moved up into the Hudson, past piers of a dozen steamship companies. At last the liner made a half turn. Tugboats propelled it to the dock. Down went the gang plank.

Her husband knew exactly how to minimize delay with officials and resurrect familiar baggage from the endless stream borne off the ship. He managed it all very quickly. They passed beyond the customs gates and there Arthur paused.

"Ought to be around here somewhere," he mused. "Do you see him any place?"

"Who?"

"Bert—with the car. If I could only get where I could see something— There he is—over there—see? Here," he added, turning toward the porter, "bring those bags after us."

They reached the maroon-colored limousine, which still was a sight to fill Judith's heart with awe. Bert, beaming and apparently delighted to see them, stored away the bags, took his post at the wheel, then turned for instructions.

"Home first," Knight told him. "The two in the tonneau rody stately through streets crowded with morning traffic. Judith alighted her hand into Arthur's and left it there. They rode across town, then over the sweeping Queensboro bridge to Long Island.

Soon, Judith told herself, she was to see her new home. It was to be a new home and a new life. She turned toward Arthur and found reassurance in his smile.

"Fifteen minutes more," he said, "and we'll be there. Anxious to see the place?"

Judith nodded. "Think you'll like it better out here than in the city?"

"Oh, yes. I'm sure of that!" Bert was a good chauffeur. He avoided traffic tie-ups, turned down little used streets. It was really less than 15 minutes before he drew up in front of a large colonial brick house and turned into the driveway.

"Here we are, Judith." Arthur was helping her out of the car. She stood on the walk an instant, looking up at the big house. There was a yard, trees and clumps of shrubbery. The structure back of these was of dark brick. There was a white doorway with pillars on each side. Judith saw shuttered windows and someone in the doorway waiting to welcome them. She saw these, a dozen other details, and then the whole scene became a swimming, hazy vision. Very, very hazy—

Arthur Knight's right arm snoot forward. He was just in time to save her.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Effective January 1, 1930 the DeKalb-Ogle Telephone Company announced a reduction in toll rates. On calls to points approximately 60 to 300 miles distant, the station-to-station day rates are reduced 10 cents in most cases, 5 cents in the few remaining cases. For example, the day rate for a station-to-station call from Rochelle to Chicago is reduced from 55 to 50 cents; Rochelle to Rock Island from 90 to 80 cents; Rochelle to Winnetka, from 55 to 50 cents. It is estimated that the present reduction in various long distance rates will result in a saving of more than $5,000,000 a year to telephone users of the United States. The rate reduction is made in conjunction with the Bell system, as a part of the fundamental policy to provide the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public.
